

Vom 04. – 05. 12. wird in Wien das europäische Wissenschaftsfilmfestival über die Bühne gehen. Es wird vom Verein sf² gemeinsam mit der Universität für Bodenkultur, der Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften und dem Naturhistorischen Museum veranstaltet.

Ein Wissenschaftsfilmwettbewerb, Workshops, Vorträge, Seminare machen das Festival zu einem nachhaltigen Ereignis. Stars des Wissenschaftsfilms, allen voran die Emmy-Preisträger Sonya Pemberton und Tristian Chytroschek sowie der Youtube-Star Derek Muller (Veritasium), und Wissenschaftler wie Christian Köberl und Günter Kargl werden neben den RegisseurInnen der Filme die Veranstaltung begleiten und neben Vorträgen auch für Diskussionen zur Verfügung stehen.

Für WissenschaftlerInnen besteht im Rahmen des Festivals die Möglichkeit, sich mit WissenschaftlerInnen direkt auszutauschen und Ideen zu generieren, neue wissenschaftliche Erkenntnisse in Filmen zu realisieren. (Anmeldung zu diesem Programmpunkt unter <http://www.oeaw.ac.at/MTAS/>)

Das Festival wird unmittelbar im Anschluss an den World Congress of Science and Factual Producers stattfinden, der dieses Jahr auf Einladung des ORF erstmals in Wien abgehalten werden wird.

Neben dem Festival-Wettbewerb besteht die Möglichkeit, in Workshops, Lectures und Seminaren mehr über die internationale Medienlandschaft des Wissenschaftsfilms und über das Gestalten und Produzieren von Wissenschaftsfilmen zu erfahren.

Gemeinsam mit unseren Partnerfestivals in Paris, am Cern, in Moskau und Olomouc wird im Rahmen des Festivals unter österreichischer Leitung eine „Europäische Akademie des Wissenschaftlichen Films“ ins Leben gerufen werden.

EUROPEAN SCIENCE FILM FESTIVAL 4. & 5. Dec 2015

The European science film festival will be held in Vienna 04. – 06. 12. The festival is organized by the non-profit organization sf² in collaboration with the University of Natural Resources and Life sciences, the Austrian Academy of Sciences and the Natural History Museum, Vienna.

A science film competition, workshops, presentations and discussions make the festival a lasting event. Stars of the science film, all above the Emmy-laureates Sonya Pemberton and Tristian Chytroschek as well as the Youtube-Star Derek Muller (Veritasium) and scientists like Christian Köberl and Günter Kargl along with the directors of the films of the science film competition will accompany the festival and will be available for discussions and presentations.

Scientists have the possibility to meet the film makers in a specific workshop during the festival to exchange ideas and possibly set the basis for new film projects. (please register for this event under <http://www.oeaw.ac.at/MTAS/>)

The festival will be held directly after the World Congress of Science and Factual Producers, which takes place in Vienna following the invitation of the ORF.

Together with the partner-festivals in in Paris, at the Cern, in Moskau and Olomouc the “European Academy of the Science Film” will be announced during this festival.

THE EUROPEAN SCIENCE FILM FESTIVAL sf²

The aim of the festival is to enhance the ambitious European science film and the interdisciplinary interchange among industry, research, education and public. As the festival is supported by scientific and educational institutions, particular emphasis is placed on the scientific accuracy of the documentaries. Partners of the event are the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna and the Young Academy of the Austrian Academy of Sciences.

THE COMPETITION

Eleven films were selected from over fifty submissions from seven european countries. This pre-selected films enter the competition and will be screened in public.

EUROPEAN ACADEMY OF SCIENCE FILM (EURASF)

The Academy is initiated by the directors of the festivals sf², afo, Contemporary Science Film Festival and CineGlobe. The objectives of the Association are to strengthen the European Science Film in its importance and to promote a network of science communicators, filmmakers, film producers and festival organizers in Europe.
